The Santa Fe is Doing All in Human Power to Help Us. Traffic Manager White Adds Some

IN THIS TRACT An Avalanche of Traffic for Which No Could Provide-A Meeting Called to Discuss the Matter, Sensible Remarks.

The traffic blockade on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad continues to be one of the most prominent perplexities in business circles, ranking with the coal famine—in which it is the leading factor. Yesterday's TIMES noted the earnest efforts of the Santa Fé people to lift the blockade, and the fact that Solicitor Brunson had been telegraphing heavily to the authorities in the East. owing telegrams, which are sensible and lowing telegrams, which are sensible and to the point:

[Telegram.]

Boston, Mass, Nov. 15, 1887.

A. Brunson; Esq., Attorney California Central Bultway. Los Angeles, Cal.: Have telegram regarding delayed freight. Every effort possible has been made to move the business with reasonable promptness, and the work continues energetically. The delay is inevitable, as shipments have greatly exceeded our expectations. It has been impossible for us to increase metire power rapidly enough to meet the extraordinary and unexpected demand which has come upon us during the past three months. We have, however, increased the motive power on the Atlantic and Pacific during that time fully 30 per cent. No road in the country could have done more than we have done to meet the wantscof shippers. The flood of business has simply overtaxed our abilities. We carnestly ask the friendly consideration of our patrons in our effort to handle their business and to build up Southern Celifornia. (Signed)

[Telegram.]

[Telegram.] TOPEKA, Nov, 16, 1887.

Hon, A. Brunson, Solicitor, Los Angeles:
I am informed that the Board of Trade of your city is to hold a meeting tonight to condemn our line for delays to west-bound freights. These delays, I admit, have been great and they are just as annoying to the management as they are vexations to shippers and consignees. The large volume of west-bound freight is something which no one could forsee, and had it been thought of, could not have been provided against, owing to our inability to procure motive power from the manufacturers, who are now largely behind on their orders from us. We have practically sidetracked all of our local business, with the exception of passengers and live stock, in order to move California freights. Every possible engine which could be spared has been given to the Atlantic and Facilic to help your people out, and I trust they will bear with as a little while longer. We are working day and night to afford your people relief and for some days past have been turning over to the Southern Pacific Company at Deming, a considerable quantity of California freight, on which the Southern Pacific promises good service. As fast as new engines are received, they are being placed in the California trade.

THE CARPENTERS.

They Will Take No United Political Action.

At a meeting of Carpenters' Union No. 56, held on Tuesday night, the following resolutions were adopted:

resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, that we do not deem it advisable to enter the political arena as an organization to promote measures of benefit to workingmen, but we hold it to be a duty for all union men to attend political conventions and advocate the principles of reform which are generally accepted by organized labor. In the forthcoming municipal election, we urge upon all our members to make a demand for the enforcement of the eight-hour law on public works.

U. S. GRAND JURY.

It Presents Its Final Report and Adjourns.

The United States Grand Jury finished its labors yesterday and made its final re-port to the Court. Mutual congratulations weré exchanged between the Court and offi-cers and the jury, whose report in full is as follows:

To the Hon. Erskine M. Ross, United States District Court Judge for the Southern District of California: We, the United States Grand Jurors for the Southern District of California, respectfully submit to Your Honor that since our last report we have found three indictments, which we herewith present to this Court, making in all since we were impanelled, on the 18th day of August, A. D. 1887, the number of thirty-five indictments.

Your Honor for his patient, dignified and courteous bearing toward us and for his kind assistance rendered us whenever solicited.

And we again desire to thank the Hon. J. Marion Brooks, United States District Attorney, D. R. Risley, Esq., United States Marshal, as well as all of his deputies; also Mr. William W. Van Dyke and Mr. E. H. Owen, clerks respectively of the United States Circuit and District Courts, for their kindness, and to bear testimony to the efficiency and attention of all of said officers, to their respective duties, pertaining to us as grand jurors. We may well say, considering that this is the first term of the United States Court in and for the Southern District of California; that the basiness of all of the foregoing officers has been performed with remarkable correctness and promptitude.

As evidence of the efficiency of the various officers herein named, we will state that of the twenty indictments which have been disposed of, five have been acquitted and fifteen have either been convicted or entered a pien of guilty.

We think that we will not be arrogant in saying that the Grand Jury have not permitted any spite or personal feeling to enter into our proceedings, and that the percentage of convictions under indictments has no equal in the history of criminal practice.

Being informed by the United States District Attorney that no further business would be brought before us for the term, we therefore ask Your Honor that we be discharged from further duty as such grand jurors.

Before leaving we wish to express our earnest and sincere thanks to Hon. William R. Rowland, our foreman, Joseph E. Banning. Esq., our secretary pro tem, for the uniform kindness and attention they have shown the grand jurors and for the efficient manner in which they have performed their respective duties.

As will be seen by the following official documents, several merchants whose freight is laid out have prevailed on the Board of Trade to meet tonight to discuss the matter, and presumably to condemn the Santa Fe. Just what the sufferers propose to do in the matter is by no means plain. No amount of resoluting will hurry the freight, and if it is desired to such the company for damage by delays, it isn't necessary to call a mass-meeting to do that. The correspondence is as follows:

Los Angeles, Nov. 15.

Mr. E. Germain, President Los Angeles Board of Trade to our freight blockaded on the Santa Fe rough rough the modern of the Board of Trade to take some immediate action in the matter. A number of witnesses were 'examined, and a commission consisting of Drs. T. C. Gale, K. D. Wise and Charles H. &cCann, declaring that she was harmless, she was ordered discharged by the Judge. The testimony developed the following facts iff the rather peculiar case: The woman's maiden name was Florence Taylor. She married a man by the name of Crane, but left him without getting a divorce, and does not now know whether he is dead or living, but thinks he is dead. She first gave evidence of mental unsoundness on September 9th, when she imagined herself to be governed by a good and evil spirit. She showed no signs of being addicted to the use of morphia or other drugs, and had never shown any tendency toward a homicial or suicidal mania. The woman is a sufferer from a female complaint, which is the probable carse of her trouble. She was taken charge of by Mrs. Watson, who will care for her until her friends arrive to take her home.

Resolved, that our delegates to the Trades Council be instructed to bring this matter before that body and adopt some plan to secure it.

Another Dead Horse.

A serious runaway took place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Alameda street. A horse, attached to a light spring wagon, became frightened near the old depot and ran up Alameda toward Naud's warehouse. When he neared that building he ran into a post and fell. Two of his legs were broken, and he had to be shot. There was no one in the wagon.

GUILTY AS CHARGED Williams, the Wife Murderer,

Convicted. His Limping Excuses for a Most Repulsive Crime.

It Takes a Jury Eleven Minutes to Settle His Case.

to Imprisonment for Life—An Omission by the Prosecution, Which Helped

The trial of William Williams, the wife murderer, again occupied the attention of Judge Cheney all day yesterday. Tuesday afternoon, when declaring a recess until 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the Court implored all the parties to the case to be promptly in attendance at the time set, but Juror Bullis was absent after the roll was called, and ten minutes were wasted in awaiting his arrival. The prisoner was brought into court in irons, and appeared to brought into court in irons, and appeared to be as nonchalant as he was when arrested. There is no doubt that his careless appear-ance during the trial has worked up a greater prejudice against him than was felt previous to the trial.

sworn: I am sergeant of the police force, and am acquainted with the defendant. When I first saw him it was on the occasion of his arrest at the complaint of Mrs Williams. I went there with Officers Arguello told him it was because he had threatened to kill her several times, and now she was afraid of him. Williams then told her he was sorry for it, and only said so in joke. If she would torgive him that time he would never do so again. I saw no children there then.

w. C. ROBERTS, sworn: 1 am a police officer and am ac-quainted with the defendant. On the 6th quainted with the defendant. On the 6th of June Mrs. Williams came to the office or the Chief of Police crying, and complained that McGowan and her husband had thrown her out of bed and had then got into the bed themselves. I had other officers with me, as Mrs. Williams had informed me that Williams had promised to shoot the officer who came after him.

ANNIE WEBBER, recalled, testified: Williams has been treat recalled, testified: Williams has been treat-ing my mamma mean for the last two years, and often struck her and promised her worse treatment. I don't think I would know McGowan again. I know he wanted to kill my mamma when her an her out of the house with the big knife, because she told me so then.

told me so then.

PETER A. REEL

testified: I remember the night of the murder of Mrs. Williams. I received the message by telephone at about 12:40 on Saturday night. I went to the corner of Alameda and Guadalupe streets, and, after seeing the body, telephoned for the Coroner, and then testarted out after the murderer. I tracked him by his feotprints all down Alameda and Second streets, and then along the bank of the river. I know they were the tracks of Williams, for after we arrested a him I compared the shoes he wore with the footprints. He ran his shoes over on the inside, and this peculiarity was visible in the tracks. After the electric light went out, and in places where it did not throw a light, I had a candle to trace the steps by. The pistoi shown me is the same given me by Mrs. Devine after the arrest of Williams. It is a "British buildog," PETER A. REEL him to give it to me, and he could get it again at any time he wanted it. He then gave it to me, telling me not to say anything about it to Devine. He was not very drunk at the time, but had been drinking considerably. He promised Mr. Devine to give himself up to the officers in the evening, but not until then.

Annie Webber was again recalled here and stated that at the time her mother was threatened by Williams there was another man present and she thought his name was Slater. Here a five minutes' recess was given to enable a witness for the People on the way to court to put in an appearance. In the meantime a bench warrant was issued for Martin Devine, with ball fixed at $500, returnable at 10 a.u. today. Devine is at San Bernardino, according to his wife's story, having gone there to see a friend who was hurt on the motor road. As he was too drunk for any use when in the court Tuesday, it is likely he will be made to suffer for his contempt. No witness having arrived during the recess, Mr. Dupuy announced that the People rested.

an old partner of Williams, was the first witness called for the defense, and in response to the call a tall, red-faced, toughlooking man put in an appearance and testified: I reside in this city. I know the defendant well and have known him for ten years. I was at his house at the time we were arrested by his wife. We had been together all the evening, and had visited many of the houses where bricklayers are generally to be found. He told me he had a room to rent, and as I wanted a room I took his and agreed to pay him $$5 per month for it. After I had been in bed some time Williams and his wife.

Cross-examined: I knew Williams first at Reno, Nev. Since that time I have worked with him all over the State and here, in Los Angeles. While we were out that night we might have drank some, but not very much. I have never heart anything about Williams treating his family anything but right.

another bricklayer, then testified: I am a bricklayer and have been intimately acquainted with the defendant for about four years. I was at his house one night when he was arrested. I was there at his invitation to eat supper and remain all night. When supper was ready Mrs. Williams refused to attend on us, and Williams complained because his guest was not being treated right, and, said to me: "Nevermind, Slater, if she is too damned lazy to wait on my guests, I will hand you anything you want." Mrs. Williams then got mad, and snatching up the big butcher kuite, ahe said: "You d—n s—n of a b—b, you have been following me up all day, and I testified: I am a short-hand reporter and the official reporter of the City Court. I made the transcript of this case, and there four witnesses examined—Annie r, Mr. and Mrs. Capel, and Dr. I. E. The defendant was charged with me of murder.

then testified: I am a resident of this city, and have been acquainted with the defendant about two years. I have been at his house frequently. His reputation for kind-ness to his family was good. I have often been there over night, and there has always been plenty of food. WILLIAM WILLIAMS, the defendant, was then told to take the stand, and proceeded to do so with all the coolness imaginable. Is giving his evidence he frequently referred to the murder as "the killing," and talked as composedly as those testifying in some other person's case. He said: I am the defendant in this case. On the night of the killing my write went to the theater. She had asked me to go with her nearly a week before, but as I don't care to see children's shows I told her I would not go, but that she could go if she would take Phesbe with her. After I got home and found she had gone and left the little ones at Mrs. Capel's it made me mad. I went to Capel's early in the evening and we had some beer, and I and Capel then went out and up town. Then we went together to Blumenthal's to get a set of blankets for my wife. I heard her say she wanted some more to help to fix up some of the rooms, and so thought I would get them then. I looked at the blankets, but not liking them bought two comforts instead, and then we started to go home. On the way we net some fellows we knew, and all took a drink together. We took several drinks then, and on our way down Alumeds street we went into a mew saloon and lunched. It had just been opened, and then we went into a mew saloon and lunched. It had just been opened, and then capel said he wanted to hurry home, and so I gave him the comforts and a bucket of beer and some fruit I had bought for the children and asked him to take them all to his place and I would be along in all the would be along in all the bild her was a lunch specific to meet my wife there and capel so my the said went to Capel's boust my testification. I had bought for the children and asked him to take them and the her bnoket of beer under the clove people and had been arrested for illited while. I then wet so had taken Phebe there, as Mr. and Mrs. Capel were low people and had been arrested for illited while. I have to to tell my wife for taking Phesbe there and she at once told me I had been went on tof the house and we had no some poppe is an land been arrested for illited while. I have to the limb wif and the thought struck me that she might not yet be dead, so I turned around and went back to the scene of the killing, but I saw there were so many people going that way that I changed my mind and went back again to the river side and fell asleep in the willows. When I awoke it was Sunday morning and I walked up Seventh street to the corner of Spring, and there I tried to get the barkeeper of the saloon there to get up and give me a drink. A carpenter came dong then and asked me if I was waiting for my morning cocktail, and I told him that I had wakened the barkeeper and he would soon open up. After the saloon was opened I took several drinks and shook diee with the barkeeper for others. Then he bought a paper and commenced to read about the killing, so I bought a paper also. Then, after I had taken a few more drinks the barkeeper refused to let me have any more, but I bought a flask and, taking my maper with me, went into a new building near there and went to sleep. I went there to read the paper, but I was so full that I could not read and so fell asleep. When I woke up I finished all the whisky there was in the flask, and then, seeing by the paper that my wife was dead, I made up my mind to go out to Devine's place. Mrs. Devine was an old friend of my wife's, and I went out to see if she would attend the funeral. She said she would, and asked me to lend her 50 cents. We then had some beer, and I suppose it was bought with the halt dollar.

At this point the counsel for the defense commenced to question the witness. After this ordeal was over the witness. After this ordeal was over the witness continued. I was at Blumenthal's about 11:30. My memory is rather defective on account of having been hit on the head with a beer glass about ten months ago. When my wife told me she was going to have me arrested again, I thought it was because I had the pistol, and when she grabbed my arm and the pistol, it hought she was dead in the habit of giving her all my salove the had not take the following the reflective on ac

I knew it was loaded when. I gave it to her. I was so bewidered after the killing that I don't remember what happened. When I first had the pistol I fired off one of the shets, but don't know where it went. I sred it by accident that time. [At the preliminary examination of 'Williams the fact was preved that the pistol with which Mrs. Williams had been shot had been borrowed only a few hours before, and was not at all the pistol which went off accidentally. Through some carelessness or neglect this was not brought out in the trial yesterday.] I don't remember how long I slept when I went down to the riverside. I don't know whether I was drank or not in the morning when-I went into the saloon on the corner of Sixth and Spring streets. I read about haif the paper I bought at the saloon and then went to Mrs. Devine's. I gave her the pistol because she feared it would go off again. When Slater ate supper with us, she refused to cut the meat, but threw the knife on the floor. We were fixing up the house for a lodging-house.

James Ward then testified that Williams was in the habit of giving his wife from $10 to $15 a week and that he had never seen them quarrel.

James Ward then testified that Williams was in the habit of giving his wife from $10 to $15 a week and that he had never seen thom quarrel.

S. Cornell was recalled to testify as to the condition of the defendant at the inquest, and the defense then rested their case.

J. R. Dupuy, the District Attorney, made a review of the case in his opening argument to the jury, and made a visible impression on that body. The counsel for the defense placed their case before the jury in its best possible light, but it was easy to see that the powerful weight of the evidence of the People, compared with the very lame defense, would have far more influence than the most powerful argument. Court then took a recess until 7 o'clock, when Mr. Dupuy closed for the prosecution, and the jury received its instructions and was taken into the jury-room at about 8:45. In about ten minutes after the jury went out a loud knocking was heard at the door, and for the first time during the whole trial the prisoner started and turned pale. The Sheriff announced that a verdict had been agreed upon, and the jury was again put in the box and the roll called. Judge Cheney then addressed the room full of spectators, asking them to make no demonstration whether the verdict met their approbation or otherwise. Then turning to the jury he asked if they had agreed upon a verdict, and receiving an affirmative tanswer, requested Foruman Williamson to read it. The foreman stepped slowly to the light with a folded paper in his hand, and adjusting his spectacles, read in a deliberate manner the following verdict:

"The State of California against William Williams. We, the jury in the above-mentioned cause, do hereby find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degee, with imprisonment for life."

A deep sigh of relief escaped from the prisoner, and then, as if a shauned of this show of feeling, he raised his head and looked brazenly at the Judge. Cheney was at first inclined to have the jury make their recommendation as regards the sentencing Williams at

The almost phenomenal growth of that The almost phenomenal growth of that portion of the city out in the vicinity of the University during the past year has often been commented upon by the press, and to-day the demand for building lots is as great as ever. To meet this demand, a number of large tracts have been subdivided and put on the market, the latest one being the beautiful Alessandro tract of twenty acres, and one of the handsomest sites for buildon the market, the latest one being the beautiful Alessandro tract of twenty acres, and one of the handsomest sites for building purposes in the entire city. A Times reporter was yesterday griven over the tract by Dr. H. Sinsabaugh, one of the owners, and given every opportunity of observing for himself what there was in it. The tract comprises the property of Dr. Sinsabaugh, President Bovard of the University, Miss Tieger and J. E. Whitman, and has been divided into eighty fine building lots, each one of which has a good assortment of fruit trees and vines in full bearing. The tract fronts on Santa Monica avenue and is within fifty yards of Park Station, where a handsome depot building will be erected as soon as workmen can be produced by the railroad company. Itamona and Juanita streets run through the tract, which is bounded on the west by Goodner avenue. The ground is as level as a floor, and there will be no expense for grading. The soil is very moist and almost any kind of fruit or vegetable can be grown without irrigation. Water can be had anywhere on the tract at a depth of forty feet, and at eighty feet arteslam water can be obtained. The importance of this feature should not be overlooked by home-seekers, as the value of a good and sure water supply cannot be overestimated. Easy communication is had to and from the city over the Santa Monica road, which runs directly in front of the tract and lands the passenger at the depot on Alameda street in less than ten inhutes. Four daily trains each way are now running, but arrangements have been made by which this service is to be increased to hourly trains from Park Station, which will give residents on this tract a great advantage, as it takes forty minutes to make the trip by the horse cars. this tract a great advantage, as it takes forty minutes to make the trip by the horse cars. The Rosecrans dummy line, connecting with the Main-street cars, also runs within a short distance of the tract, thus giving a choice of routes. In fact, nothing has been left undone to make the Alessandro one of the most desirable tracts in the city. The sale of lots only commenced on the 14th, and already quite a number have been purchased by parties who will at once put up houses. The terms of sale are very easy, and, in comparison with other property in the immediate vicinity, the prices are very low. J. W. and often a vicious one.

In many of the far Southern States it has been made almost impossible to sustain a Republican organization, and so, for want of material upon which to build an honest, open and natural par tisan fight, the Democracy of Louisians has been for some time split in twain, simply that the Democratic penchant for a row may be gratified. The Lousiana State election does not take place until next April, but the factions are busily engaged preparing for the scrimmage.

The factions are both Democratic, one of them being led by Gov. Mc-Enery and Senator Eustis, and the other rallying to the whoop-up of ex-

Gev. Nichols and Senator Gibson. To a looker-on in Vienna, the knock down-and-drag-out promises to be very "foin." It the Lousiana clans would follow the noble example of the Kilkenny cats and stick to the mêlée until nothing is left but the two quivering stumps of two tails, what a blessing they would confer upon the people of Louisiana, besides securing the credit of having at last accomplished one

The San Francisco Examiner ap pears in a very singular role. It ap pears as a champion of the executed Anarchists. It editorially asserts that the punishment of the Anarchists wa not an incident of ordinary justice, but

This is exactly what the Anarchists throughout the United States and the world are endeavoring to make ap-pear. That is to say, that the men who were executed at Chicago were not executed because they were guilty individually, but because they were me pers of an obnoxious element. To fortify this position the Examiner con-

if it is this position the Examiner continues:

"It is this broad principle of public policy that gave the Chicago authorities the right to hang men who, under ordinary circumstances, would scarcely have been prosecuted. It may have been a hardship to the selected examples to make them suffer for an offense which thousands before them had committed with inpunity, but things had reached a point at which individual feelings, and in a messure, individual justice, had to be overlooked for the safety of society. The trial of the Anarchists was nominally under the then existing common and statute law, but it was really under a sort of ex post facto law of public necessity. The jury were supposed to be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that Lings, Fischer and their companions were accessories before the fact to the murder of Policeman Degan. What they were actually convinced of was that the defendants were guilty of a treasonable conspiracy against society; that they were dynamiters on principle, and that if they did not throw the particular bomb in question, nor know who did throw it, they were capacle of throwing it, and might throw one next time.

"It has not been the American custom to hang people for incendiary speeches and

The foregoing is likely to do more damage, by way of corrupting public opinion, than anything that could pos-sibly be put forth by the avowed apostles of anarchism. According to the Examiner the executed Anarchists were murdered-murdered for opinion's sake-murdered by those who be lieved that the opinions of the murdered men might become troublesome or dangerous. If the Examiner so believed, why did it not say so before? Why did it not attempt to save the innocents (?) whose untimely fate it now underhandedly weeps?

THE TIMES of yesterday contained an able editorial on the situation in Europe. The ability of that article might be apparent to the average reader were it not for the efforts of the intellectual compositor, who at-tempted to add to its brilliancy by substituting the Franco-Prussian for the Turko-Russian war.

The Gritty Greek.

A lively little fight occurred near the corner of Spring and Second streets last night about 11 o'clock. A couple of men by the names of William Teele and Sam Baggy, who are connected with the show in the hole at the corner, went into the fruit stand at the same place kept by Morros the Greek. Morros ordered themen out, as he was busy, when they refused to go and showed fight. This angered the little Greek, who began firing pop bottles at the men, one of whom was struck on the head, inflicting a severe cut. When the inquest in the Benhayon case is When the inquest in the Benhayon case is resumed tomorrow afternoon it is expected that some new light will be thrown on the mystery which will confound the story told by John A. Dimmig, charged with the murder. It will be remembered that Dimmig at first said that on the eventful Saturday night he spent three hours in the Bella Union Theater with his friend, Robert Apple. Detective Hogan, to ascertain the truth of this story, obtained from Dimmig a description of the waitress he claimed had served himself and friend with drinks. The detective recognized her, from the description, as Dot Barry, and fast night he confronted Dimmig with her in the jail. The N. San Francisco. Nov. 16.—[By the Associated Press.] The inquest in the case of Henry Benhayon, who was found dead in his room under suspicious circumstances at 23 Geary street, will be resumed tomorrow afternoon before the Coroner's jury. It is thought that a verdict will be rendered some time this week. It is said that the detectives have secured new evidence, and, if so, an interesting session may be expected. Detective Byram has returned from Lemoor, and will tell the result of his investigations in his search after the mythleal Dr. Fells. Detective Hogan is also said to be possessed of considerable new and valuable information, which it is reported will throw considerable doubt upon the evidence by which Dimmig tried to prove an alibi about his movements on the Saturday night preceding Benhayon's death. Dimmig, who was questioned about the performance at the Bella Union on Saturday night, where he testified he had been on that evening, was unable to describe it.

From the fifth to the tenth round Carney increased his advantage and McAuliffe was terribly punished. From the tenth to the twenty-first round the fighting was of a desperate character, but slow, neither man being badly punished. The battle was of the kind that beggars description, and the crowd was wildly excited. Twenty-one rounds took one hour and twenty-three minutes. Although McAuliffe had a shade the best of it at that time, yet the Carney men were jubilant. Betting was then in favor of McAuliffe two to one. So far Carney's tactics were in accordance with his expressed intentions to worry-and tre McAuliffe and nurder him in the ring. At the forty-fifth round it was seen that his tactics were bound to be successful in spite of the splendid staying powers of McAuliffe. The Brooklyn boy was full of pluck, and stood up to the Englishman in great shape as long as he had enough life in him to hold up his hands or stand on his feet. At the end of that round it was seen it was only a surely winner. At 4:30 Carney and McAuliffe had fought fifty rounds. The lifty-fourth round was desperately fought, and both men were strong. Both men were badly punished when the referee declared the fight a draw, but were able to continue, and would have done so had not the excitement been too much for the spectators, and caused them to engage in a general row.

Carney was seen in the city this evening, and with the exception of a few scratches and bruises, was apparently uninjured. He appeared to be in good spirits and declared that he would be willing to finish the contest. McAuliffe is reported to be quite badly used up and weak from the effects of the fight. Atkinson says the population of the provinces is something less than 1,000,000 people. These people have received little benefit from rail-duan money has been chiefly expended, but they must share the burden of debt. Mr. Atkinson says: "Suppose the United States should buy them at a price equal to their share of Canada's debt, say $40,000,000 to $50,000,000; it would only cost five months surplus revenue. Playing rule 43 was amended so as to read: "Players whose names shall be Playing rule 43 was amended so as to read: "Players whose names shall be printed on the score-card as extra players may be substituted at the end of any completed inning by their club, but retired players shall not thereafter participate in the game. In addition thereto a substitute may be allowed at any time in the place of a player disabled in the game by injury or illness of a nature the extent of which the umpire shall be the sole judge." This section is subject to the approval of the American Association.

The rule relating to forfeited games was also amended (subject to the approval of younger associations) to give the club entitled to a forfeit game the privilege of refusing it.

Paragraph 9, section 41, referring to

The Fast Northern Train. Sunday last, the 13th inst., the Southern Pacific Company put on a double daily pasand the East via the northern routes. The and the East via the nottern routes. The train leaving this city at 1:30 p.m. daily will carry through Pullman palace cars and emigrant sleeping-cars, the former to Ogden and the latter to Omaha without change, making through eastern connections, and the fastest time of any train ever run between Los Angeles and the East by the porthern routes.

This train makes all the evening train connections out of Chicago on the fifth day, thus nearly equaling the through time from San Francisco, with 480 more miles

The train is made up in the Southern Pacific yards in this city, thus positively Pacific yards in this city, thus positively assuring leaving on time.

The 7:30 p.m. train from this city will carry emigrant passengers only to San Francisco and way points, and will make connection at Sacramento with the overland from San Francisco, but carry only irist-class passengers from those points.

The Union Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande Railways have put on extra train service to connect at Ogden with both of these trains.

Allowed to Go.

Early last evening quite an excitement was caused at the police station by a well-dressed German and a weeping boy, who were brought in by Officer Collins. The boy claimed that he was walking along Spring street when he was accidentally shoved against the German. That individual became very angry and boxed the little fellow's ears in a most savage manner. The officer on watch informed the little fellow that he would have to appear in court if the man was arrested, and he backed out, so the thumper of small boys was allowed to go. Allowed to Go.

A FEARPUL PALL

Two House Painters Hurt, Probably, Unto Death.

Yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock a most frightful accident occurred on the corner of Jefferson and Main streets. Two house painters named John Coakley and Tom Valpey were at work on a two-story frame house painting the roof, when the scaffold gave way and the poor fellows fell a distance of forty feet to the ground. Their cries brought a crowd to their assistance almost immediately, and they were made as comfortably as possible until medical assistance arrived. Coakley fell at full length on the hard ground, striking on his right side. He seemed to be one mass of jelly on that side, but strange to say, no bones were broken. He was hurt internally, and his recovery is very doubtful. Valpey fell in a cramped position, and his left leg was broken. He also is in a very dangerous condition and his friends did not expect him to live until morning. Officer Harris was sent out and took Coakley to his home, on the corner of Seventh and Olive streets, and Valpey was taken to Vermont avenue.

The Prices of Lots Range from $350 to $450.

TERMS OF SALE - One-third cash, one-third in six months, one-third in one year.

This winter will be a repetition of last. Outside property will advance apidly, and those who buy now at bedrock prices will not only reap the benefit of all improvements that go to enhance values, but will get full advantage of owners' advances which will occur from time to time during the winter,

We start this new town off with the following advantages: Tit is only four miles from the eity.

The Southern Pacific Railroad runs through the tract, and depot and side tracks will be built at once. The Los Angeles and Glendale Motor Railroad, now about completed, uns within 600 feet of this townsite. The Pasadena Boulevard, now an assured fact, is laid out immediately through the center of the tract.

The San Fernando County Road runs along the north line. There is no finer valley in Southern California. Abundance of water, good untain air. Parties desiring cheap suburban homes, with rapid and frequent communication with the city, cannot do better than to buy here. Thousands of people will be here this fall seeking homes, and will overflow to outside points for lack of accommodations. Remember how outside property advanced last winter and profit by the experience. Buy early. Free carriage from my office for Minneapolis at 8:30 a.m. and 2:80 p.

dly of San Francisco is getting worse worse. The telegraphic columns of paper have just recorded the arrest of eca W. Swalm, Clara Belle McDonald's Seneca W. Swalm, Clara Belle McDonald's blooded lover, on a charge of forgery. It will be remembered also, by readers of The Times, that part of the scandals of this repulsive case were hatched here in Los Angeles. Mrs. McDonald and young Swalm-who was an insurance agent and ran with a crowd of fast bloods here—both roomed at the Nadeau, and there became so intimate as to create scandal. Some of the laddes there expostulated with the infatuated woman for her conduct with Swalm. She replied tartly that her husband was not sufficiently amorous, and she would sock lovers where she liked. The illieit lovers ere gently but firmly frozen out of the otels, left the city.

"The McDonald scandal bids fair to rival

Monday's Chronicie (before the arrest) says:

"The McDonald scandal bids, fair to rival the Berhayon mystery in point of interest. Every day there are developed some new and sensational features. The latest and most startling is a charge of forgery against Seneea Swalm, the dae'aing insurance agent, who is accused by Richard H. McDonald, Jr., in his cross bill of divorce, with adultery with his handsome wife, Clara Belle.

"Mr. McDonald claims, to have discovered that his wife's fair hand did not trace his father's sirnature to the certificate for the forgery of which she was arrested and thrown into prisen. He accordingly called on Chief Crowley about 8 o'clock last evening, accompanied by his faithful bodyguard, John Gammage, private detective, and Cel. George Flournoy, his attorney, and olaced before the Chief and Capt. Lees rufficient evidence to cause those gentlemen to give orders to the detective force to go instantly in quest of Swalm. He was charged with forgery, supposed to be in connection with the rail-road certificates sold to Senator Stanford and purported to have been signed by R. H. McDonald, Sr. Swalm left the city last evening. I like the noble tribe after which he is named, he struck a trail; in other words, he scented something wrong and skipped. Telegrams were sent to Truckee, Fresure and Merced to arrest him. The services of Sam Davis, detective at the Palace Hotel, where Swalm formerly lived, were also enlisted. He is familiar with all his haunts, and returned after a thorough search, reporting that Swalm must certainly be out of town.

"The matter was supposed to be a profound secret among the detectives, and Chief Crowley was surprised when a Chronicle reporter asked him if Swalm had been arrested.

"Well, this beats me,' he exclaimed in surprise." I would like to know who told Chief Crowley was surprised when a Chronicle reporter asked him if Swaim had seen arrested.

"'Well, this beats me,' he exclaimed in surprise. 'I would like to kaow who told you. If you know of this somebody has played the part of traitor.' Then, suddenly changing his tone, he said abruptly; 'I don't know anything about Swaim,' and added that if the reporter wanted to see him he could probably find him at the Fashion stables, one of his headquarters.

"Mrs. McDonald passed Saturday night in the receiving hespital at the city prison. She slept very little, and frequently complained of feeling ill. 'Baby' Clara Belle slept by her side, and Minnie Regel, her faithful friend, who acts in the double capacity of nurse and governess to 'Baby,' camped in a chair near the bed. About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. McDonald asked for permission to go out and look for bail, the amount required being $15,000. Officers C. C. Wells and Parrot were detailed by Chief Crowley to attend her. She went in a carriage to her home, $16 Haight street, where she was suddenly taken ill, and her physician, Dr. Robinson, summoned. He stated that the strain of the past few weeks had been too much for her weak system, and that she required absolute quite and rest. He thought it would be dangerous to have her removed, and the Chief permitted her to remain at home in thange of the officers.

"A Chronicle reporter called at the house last night, but was not permitted to see besides being in her confidence, has had a better opportunity than any one to observe the troubles that led to the separation of husband and wife.

"Mrs. McDonald is a greatly persecuted woman, and it's all on account of her, said she, looking down into the innocent face of 'Baby' Clara Belle, who was nest-ed close to her breast and sleeping calmiy.

"Mr. McDonald would give a great deal to get possession of her. He has moved heaven and earth to do it. First he offered me money to let him steal her, and when he saw that I couldn't be bought he hired men to take her by force. Why, the night Mrs.

ener by force. Why, the night Mrs. anald was arrested for shooting her-in-law, he sent four men to the house, mong them I recognized his brother, an my Ciara Belle, and the faithful pressed the child tenderly to her

"The offer to let him steal the child is not the only one I received from Mr. McDonald. At one time he sent after me to the Lick House. I asked him what he wanted of me. He replied that he heard that I was soon to get married. I could not see how that would interest him, and I told him so. "I will be frank with you," he said; "my wife has been acting strangely of late, and you would be a first-class witness to prove that she is not in her right mind. If you do that I will make your fortune and that of your husband."

An Embezzler and Masher All Along the Line.

Tuesday's Examiner, in a long account of Swaim's arrest, says:

"The Examiner published during the latter part of the month of September a statement that Swaim had been found in arrears in his account with the life insurance company, with which he had been connected for many years as its agent in Honolulu, Los Angeles and this city. After his resignation had been accepted by the general agent, ugly rumors came to the latter's ears that the gay Lothario had indulged in nefarious practices in Los Angeles. A careful examination of his transactions there disclosed a situation more serious than was at first anticipated. He had issued a large number of receipts for premiums not authorized by the companyant the holders were carrying pollo'os of which the corporation had no kr'owledge whatever. In other words, he accounts, according to the company's books, were perfectly straight, but by had collected about $5000 and issued policies without the knowledge and conseny. of his employer. As soon as this striling discovery was made he was immediately notified to make restitution to the company of the money he had uplawfully collected, and Harry Morse's detectives were called into requisition to the company's office by two detectives, and threatened with arrest unless he made good the losses which might have been occasioned by his practices. He surrendered unconditionally and baid the morey in two different installments.

AN UMENVIABLE RECORD.

AN UNENVIABLE RECORD. women, who moved in good society, and "Swalm's escapades in this city have been of a varied nature, his victims generally women, who moved in good society, and who were possessed of great wealth. Being a man of considerable conversational powers and of polite and polished manner, it was not a difficult task to ingratiate himself into the favors of the fair ones, whose society he courted. He generally managed to bring them into such a compromising position that any publicity would result in their disgrace.

"His record in this line commenced in this city when he became intimately acquainted with the wife of a prominent general of the late war. He was always in her society, and the result was that her friends refused to recognize her. A rupture between them brought their intimacy to a close, and it is said that her association with Swalm cost her many hundreds of dollars.

"He then laid siege to the heart of the daughter of a well-known capitalist. The lady became infatuated with him, and their intimacy soon became a matter of public notoriety. One morning she appeared at the office of the Chief of Police, and informed him that she had been robbed of jewelry valued at $7000. She was questioned as to her companions, and after much persuasion reluctantly informed the Chief that she had spent the previous evening in company with Swalm. He was sent for and indignantly denied the insinuation of theft, but little importance was attached to his statement. The diamonds were not recovered, but ever since that episode he has been under police, surveillance.

"San Francisco at one time became too hot for him, and he disappeared. He finally turned up in Los Angeles in an equally compromising role. A few months ago a well-known society woman was the litigant in a suit for the possession of her child. He obtained $1000 from her, whether through black nail or other methods has never been ascertalned.

"Finally he became acquainted with Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Jr., and since then his name has so frequently been mentioned in connection with her domestic trouble that the Swalm's Loot. When Swalm was searched, says the Examiner, in the pocket of his short coat was found an envelope addressed as follows:

aminer, in the pocket or his short coat was found an envelope addressed as follows:

"Insurance renewal, Home Fire Insurance Company. Samuel L. Pereira, 415 Jones street, San Francisco."

Instead of the life insurance policy, fitteen United States Trassury notes of $1000 each were found inclosed in the envelope. Encouraged by this find, the detectives uncerthed another envelope containing $605 in currency, and in his trousers pockets he had $50 in gold coin. When his inner vest pocket was searched a fewelry box was found, which contained the following valuable articles:

One neckince with $50 diamonds each. One crescent pin with $2 diamonds.

Two eardrops with two diamonds and one sapphire each.

Three single-stone shirt studs.

One opal spider pin, set with small diamonds.

One collar button.

One opal spider pin, set with small diamonds.

One breastpin set with small diamonds.

monds.
One breastpin set with small diamonds and rubles.
"Where did you get all this jewelry?" inquired betective Bohen.
"Oh," replied the prisoner nonchalantly, "they don't belong to Mrs. McDonaid. I advanced $3000 on them as security for a lean."

loan."

Subsequent information, however, disclosed the fact that the most valuable articles, worth about $6000, were Mrs. McDonald's property, and had been bought by her husband from George C. Shreve & Cc.

On his person was also found a revolver

On his person was also found a revolver and a dirk knife, the latter identical in material and shape to the one which Mrs. McDonald had concealed in her dress on the evening when she attempted to kill her father-in-law at the Baidwin Hotel. The knife is known to-have been manufactured and bought at the same place Mrs. McDonald procured the one she had. These articles were placed in the sate in the Property Clerk's office. A number of letters were also found connecting Mrs. McDonald with his sudden departure. His valise was then opened and a large number of bottles of perfumery and toffet articles were found, which were more adapted to a female traveler's use than for an insurance agent.

The Courts.

In Judge Cheney's court yesterday the case of William Williams for wife murder was on all day.

In Judge Gardiner's court Mrs. Crane was examined as to her sanity and discharged.

S. Peterson and John Mahoney were held for trial for robbery, with $800 bail each. The trial of Charles Reemer for battery was set for November 29th.

James Turner was tried and found guilty of battery.

An Opportunity Seldem Offered.

The Santa Fe Railroad Company are largely interested in the new town of Santa Fe Springs, at Fulton Wells. Consequently, all the projected improvements will be rapidly pushed until completed. This is the only resort within seventy miles of Los Angeles where draiclass medicinal springs are found. It will, therefore, always be filled with health-seekers, The enterprising firm of Byram & Poindexter have secured 200 acres immediately adjeining the best side of this fown of Santa Fe Springs, and will sell no town lots at all. They offer it only in blocks of from four to ten acres, at low acre prices, on easy terms. This gives buyers an opportunity to make handsome villa homes or small farms, just beside a railroad depot, handsome new hotel and other trensive improvements. Any purchaser of his property can double his money by subdicking into lots. Call on us for maps and furier particulars. Byram & Poindexter, 27 fest First atreet, Los Angeles.

WEEKLY MIRROR.

IThe machines described below are now kept on hand at the Times-Mirror office, and persons can be supplied on short notice, without having to wait until they are shipped from Chicago. The freight is included in the charge below named, from Chicago to Los Angeles Persons ordering machines from this office will pay the extra freight to their destination.]

Ext $25.50 this machine and WEBKLY MIRROR, postage paid, for one year.

This machine is the first of its kind ever offered the public at factory prices, and cannot be bought from agents for less than the regular solling price, $75. It is the high-arm pattern, has self-setting needle; cannot be run backward; has automatic cut-off for driving belt, which prevents it from being run backward, thus avoiding all dangers of breaking thread or needles. It is a noisoless, light-running machine, accompanied by an illustrated book of instructions that makes everything so plain and simple that any lady or child can master it. We call it the MIRROR MIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE, and we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has received he very case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has rec ame, if it falls to be as represented, at our expense, and the money will be refunded. Knowing the character of the machine and the high grade of material and work ontering into its construction, we have no hostitation in agreeing to return the money at once to any subscriber who is not fully satisfied on examination that our high-arm machine is fully equal to our representations, we paying freight on return of the machine.

CAUTION—Sewing machine agents will tell you, "Beware of Cheap machines." We tell you buy the high-arm machine on trial, and if not satisfactory return it. No agent can sell you its equal for less than $75$. Each part of the machine is fitted with such exactness that no trouble can arise if any part is broken, for a new piece can be supplied with an assurance of a prefet fit.

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quanti

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quantities for spot cash at or very near first cost, we can save our subscribers at least $50$ on the prior of each machine. As this is the first time a sewing machine of this character has been offered the public at about manufacturer's cost, we feel confident our readers will promptly take vantage of this opportunity to provide themselves with first-class high-arm machines, which obtained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount. ained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount.

We could fill several columns expatiating on the merits of this high-arm machine, but t save the reader's patience we will simply say that it contains all the
